LONG CAREER OF
JAMES R. MANN

Veteran Illinois Member of House Had Served for Over 25 Years.

GIANT AMONG MEMBERS

By Friend and Foe He Was Recognized as Best-Informed of Any in National Legislative Body; Nothing Too
Small to Escape His Close Attention

By Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Death last night ended the legislative career of Representative James R. Mann of the Second Illinois district, long rated as a giant of the House.

Returning here two weeks ago for the opening of the special session of Congress, Mr. Mann, who had served his people for upwards of a quarter of a century, took part in the preliminary work of the House. A week ago, however, he was forced to stay at home because of cold which he failed to shake off. His condition at first was not considered serious and it was not until yesterday, after pneumonia had developed, that it became alarming. Early in the evening he rallied, but there was change for the worse as the night wore on. Shortly before midnight, with his wife and a physician at his side, the veteran of many congressional battles died peacefully. Funeral services will be held in the House chamber tomorrow afternoon after which the body will be taken to Chicago for burial. The party will leave Washington at 6:56 P. M., arriving in Chicago Sunday.

The veteran legislator, an ardent advocate of the shipping bill, sent word to the House leaders early in the week and again Wednesday that while he was ill he would go to the Capitol and help in the fight if needed. He was urged to stay at home though, none of his friends realized that a condition was serious. One of his colleagues, Representative Sabath, Democrat, Illinois, against the bill, was paired with him and so Mr. Mann was recorded in the vote.

In the words of friend and foe, Mr. Mann was the best informed man on the details of government that ever sat in the halls of Congress. The two outstanding features of his long career as a member of the House of Representatives, extending over a period of more than a quarter of a century, were absolute courage and an encyclopedic knowledge of legislative procedure and past. There was nothing too little to escape his eye. Yet by his own direction, the record of his distinguished service was summed up in less than a line and a half of the congressional record.

Republican of Chicago, was born in 1855, was elected to the 55th and each succeeding Congress. That meant 13 continuous terms for 25 years. He was re-elected this month and indeed it has been said that the people of his district were determined to keep him in the House as long as he lived.

STATE POLICE ARREST 600 IN COUNTY IN MONTH

With 871 arrests for various violations of the law during the month of November in the counties of Fayette, Washington and Greene state police report that approximately 600 of the arrests are credited to Fayette county. The report covers the three counties numbered 123 during the month with Fayette county credited with 10.

Violations of the automobile laws totaled 305, with arrests on disorderly conduct and charges numbering 287. Arrests made on charges of gambling totaled 45.

The value of liquor confiscated by the police is estimated at close to $20,000 while value of the copper stolen and taken is estimated at close to $5,000. The report further states that during the month approximately 100 persons arrested for violating the Prohibition laws have pleaded guilty while 50 others arrested on various charges also pleaded guilty.

With 40 men of Troop D located in Fayette county, which is more than twice as many as in any other county in both Greene and Washington counties combined, the state police have stated that they are determined to "clean-up" the county. Police further stated that there will be no "let-up" in their campaign to eradicate county of law violators, especially those caught violating the liquor laws.

Mayor Mitchell Urges All Citizens to Contribute to Near East Relief Fund

In behalf of the nation-wide movement to provide relief for the sufferers in the Near East, Mayor C. C. Mitchell issued the following appeal this morning:

"More than a million refugees in the Near East are looking to America to save them from starvation. Two hundred and fifty thousand boys and girls, made orphans by the Turks, are crying for bread. Unless they are given immediate help they will die of hunger and exposure.

"President Harding in a special proclamation, has asked that we give generously to relieve this terrible suffering. He urges that the people of the United States grasp the magnitude and pathos of a situation involving the absolute known destitution of over a million and a quarter women, children and old men.

"There is poignant note of despair and tragedy in every message snatched from the air by the Near East relief appeals to 'save us' coming almost hourly from the dismal, barren snow-covered plains where these helpless, homeless people are facing death from hunger and cold. Hundreds of thousands are on the verge of collapse and unless help comes quickly, all hope will be gone.

"The Near East Relief has been designated by Congress to give help to these sufferers. The needs exceed all previous calculations. Food and clothing must be shipped at once. Warehouses must be replenished. We must not let these helpless hungry people die when we have it in our power to save them.

"I urge all citizens to give thought to these needs and to be generous in contributing to this cause, realizing that 'he gives twice who gives quickly.'

"Contributions should be sent to T. B. Gainer, local treasurer, Fayette Title & Trust Company, Uniontown.

Town, Rob P. O.,
Are Captured

By Associated Press

FORT WORTH, Tex. Dec. 1.—First setting fire to the business district, bandits robbed the postoffice at Providence, Terry county, of currency, silver and stamps Thanksgiving noon according to information received today. While the fire spread the bandits battered their way into the post office, smashed the cash drawer and then fled as citizens assembled to fight the flames.

Later a posse overtook the bandits and captured two of them. Much of the money was recovered. This is the second time recently in which the business district of the town has been set afire by bandits. The fire loss will be small.

$2,800 in Fines
And Forfeits in City Last Month

Police court receipts for the month of November totaled approximately $2,800 in fines and forfeits. The greater portion of the money was secured from persons arrested under the city liquor ordinance.

Although fines during the early part of the month were not so heavy, increasing numbers of arrests in the latter weeks resulted in larger returns and fines. Almost $300 was collected this week when a raid was made on an Arch street speakeasy.

Pinchot Confers

By Associated Press

MILFORD, Dec. 1.—Many important problems dealing with labor legislation will be discussed at a three-day conference which began here today at the home of Governor-elect Pinchot.

The group of officials and others experienced in the work of federal and state labor departments will attempt to formulate the best methods and experience, in labor law administration.

Case Is Compromised.
The charge of disorderly conduct against A. J. Bruce, superintendent of construction of the Youghiogheny river bridge here, was dismissed when he appeared for a hearing Wednesday evening and apologized for his words with Assistant Chief P. M. Rull. His arrest followed a collision between an automobile and street car at the west end of the bridge, steam from the exhaust of a stationary engine making it impossible to see clearly.

Donations at Hospital.
Several donations were received at the Cottage State Hospital as a Thanksgiving for the patients. Three turkeys were given by McCormick's Meat Market, a gallon of oysters by Fitzsimmons' Fish Market, towels by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union and five dozen chrysanthemums by P. R. Reith & Sons.

Water Famine.

CITY IS IN AN UPROAR

By Associated Press

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 1.—Federal troops guarded a badly battered municipal building while the city counted the casualties of a battle between the police and a mob which attempted to storm the building last night. The death list stood at 17 today, while 18 persons are known to have been seriously injured and 33 slightly hurt. It was thought that a closer check might reveal further casualties.

The city after a night of wild rioting, found its main plaza before the municipal building a shambles of broken glass, bricks and stones, evidence of the anger of the mob which forced its way into the building half an hour before the police fired had taken their toll.

The trouble which lasted for more than six hours started when a crowd marched to the hall to protest against the sidewalk who are held responsible for conditions leading to a water famine. The demonstration was interrupted by a powerful protest and several hundred persons paraded the streets before proceeding to the hall to voice their adverse sentiment against the city government. These protesters were reinforced along the route and when the municipal building was reached the crowd numbered more than 2,000.

More Girls Are Refused at Penn State Than Enter

By Associated Press

STATE COLLEGE, Dec. 1.—One hundred and forty-nine Pennsylvania girls fully prepared to enter the Pennsylvania State College this fall had to be notified that there would be no room for them at the college this year according to an announcement today by Miss Margaret A. Knight, Dean of Women, in this week's issue of the Penn State Pictorial.

Only 110 girls were admitted to the freshman class this year while there are 320 women students enrolled in all classes. Just like the men students whose homes are in Pennsylvania, the girls are asked to pay no tuition fees, which gives them a college education at from $250 to $375 less a year than its costs girls at the average college. Dean Knight said that many prominent members of Pennsylvania women's organizations whom she has interviewed in the past few days expressed great surprise to learn that no tuition is charged at Penn State.

THREE LIVES LOST
WHEN FIRE SWEEPS
PORTLAND HOTEL

By Associated Press

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 1.—Three men lost their lives in a fire early today in the Ben Hur Hotel, formerly known as the Oak Hotel in the business district here. None of the dead had been identified several hours after the fire. All other guests were reported to have escaped, most of them in their night clothing. The building was destroyed. The number of injured had not been determined at daybreak.

The fire broke out in the hotel's furnace room. Taxi drivers and police worked furiously to arouse the guests until an explosion on the third floor forced the rescuers from the building.

Guests at the Benson and Oregon hotels which adjoin the Ben Hur were awakened by the management and were asked to prepare to leave the fire was controlled before it reached other buildings. The loss is estimated at $50,000.

Hanged for Murder
Of Elderly Bride

By Associated Press

WALLA WALLA, Wash. Dec. 1.—James E. Mahoney was hanged at the state penitentiary here today for the murder of his wife, Kate Moore Mahoney at Seattle in April 1921.

Mrs. Mahoney was beaten to death and her body stuffed into a trunk. The trunk was recovered from Lake Union in Seattle more than a year ago. Mahoney previously had been under arrest in Seattle on suspicion that he had knowledge of his wife's mysterious disappearance. The evidence against him was circumstantial.

Through the trial and the appeals, Mahoney maintained he was innocent.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—The movement to organize a progressive "bloc" in Congress took definite shape today in a conference behind closed doors attended by more than a score of senators and representatives of the present and next Congresses. Their meeting was preliminary to a general conference tomorrow of national progressive leaders.

The executive meeting today, opening the two day conference was called by Senator La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin and Representative Rudolph W. Dwyer, Democrat, Alabama. It was regarded in some quarters as the germ of a possible third party movement but La Follette disclaimed any intention to break up present party lines.

Agriculture and labor were the principal elements represented at the opening conference of Congress members.

CLOSES FOR PURPOSE OF ELECTRIFICATION

The Briar Hill Coke Company, which for seven years has been mining coal exclusively for its plant Wednesday dismissed its force of men and prepared for an indefinite suspension during which it will completely electrify the haulage way and mine equipment.

The Briar Hill company has 600 acres of coal in Redstone township. It abandoned its mines in 1912 and confines its attention to the coal market entirely. The present process of hand pick mining and mule locomotion has become so inadequate however that the owner of the plant decided to take advantage of the present lull in the coal market to put the equipment in shape for profitable operation.

Niland-Birleman.

The marriage of Miss Mary Evange-line Niland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Niland of West Fayette street and James Emmet Birleman son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel F. Birleman of East Murphy avenue, was solemnized Thanksgiving morning in the parsonage of the Immaculate Conception Church, Rev. L. D. McNamany, assistant pastor of the church, officiated. The bride wore a beautiful gown of navy blue crepe with a coral ornament, a large picture hat to correspond, and an attractive wrap of blue panyeline, marten trimmed. She carried a shower bouquet of white Ophelia roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Mary Margaret Creighton, as maid of honor, appeared in a handsome gown of sapphire blue panne velvet and hat to match. Pale pink Killarney roses and lilies of the valley formed her shower bouquet. William Niland, Jr., a brother of the bride was Mr. Birleman's best man.

The ceremony was supplemented by a beautifully appointed wedding breakfast served in the home of the bride. Covers were laid for only the immediate members of the two families. The bridal table was centered with a cluster of yellow and white chrysanthemums. Smaller tables at which other guests were served were adorned with similar flowers. A yellow and white color scheme prevailed in the decorations throughout the house. The wedding was one of much interest to the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Birleman. Both are popular members of Connellsville's younger set. The bridegroom was graduated from the Connellsville High School, a member of the class of 1914 and is employed by the Federal Fuel Company. Upon their return from a motor trip to Washington, D. C., and Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Birleman will reside with the latter's parents until spring. The bride received many handsome wedding gifts including silver and linens. A number of out of town guests were present at the wedding.

Annual Thanksgiving Dance.

About one hundred and twenty couples, including a number of out of town guests and members of the school set home for the Thanksgiving vacation, attended the annual Thanksgiving dance of the Connellsville Alumni Association held Wednesday night at the State Armory. The dance was one of the leading social functions of the holiday season and the appointments were beautiful in every detail. The committee was composed of Percy R. Shaez, Charles A. McCorkin, James M. Driscoll, Elwood Keagy, Metzgar Smeak, Frank M. Wright, J. Montgomery Dittworth, Miss Helen Schuler, Miss Gladys Rush, Miss Garnet Guyan, Mrs. Edna Johnston Brendel and Miss Lashana Stillwagon, and to them is due much credit for the dance was carried out in which the slightest detail in arrangements was overlooked and never did the spacious hall present a more beautiful appearance. The High School colors, orange and black, predominated, forming a striking contrast with the many beautiful gowns in evidence. Streamers of orange and black crepe paper adorned the windows, while similar decorations were festooned from the center light to all sides of the room. Floral baskets and many pennants completed the decorations. Dancing was indulged in until 2 o'clock. Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. John Duggan, Mr. and Mrs. J. Kirk Renner, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Norton, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Solson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Friebel, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Goldsmith, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Munson, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Solson.

Dance at Lisenberg.

Large and enjoyable was the annual Thanksgiving dance given Wednesday night at Lisenberg No. 1 by the St. Vincent Club of Lisenberg. About one hundred and fifty couples were present. The hall was beautifully decorated in the colors of the club, while the balcony, where the orchestra was stationed, was cleverly embellished with autumn leaves and ferns intermingled with huge bouquets of chrysanthemums. One of the features of the evening was a moonlight waltz. The dance owes its success to the following: Miss Kathryn McGrogan, grand chairman; Miss Christina Lindley, John Libbey, Miss Kathryn

Your management and your husband's business success

A new book on domestic relations says: "Unwieldy bills react upon the husband personally in health and productivity."

So sensitive are American women to this truth that they are known as the quickest in the world to accept new home economies.

The eagerness of American women to adopt a new home saving is shown, in one way at least, by the quick success of Brednut, the new improved spread for bread. Introduced here only a few weeks ago Brednut is already saving homes where the wives appreciate their real business responsibilities.

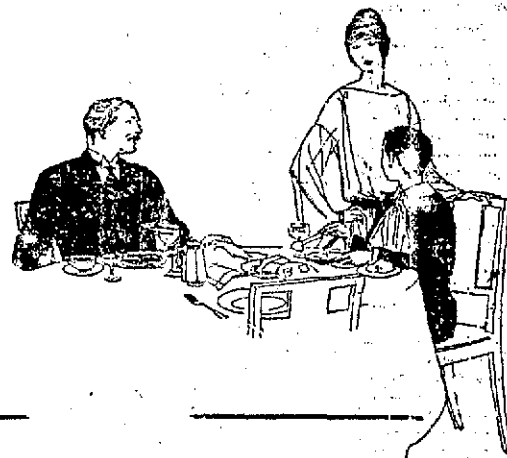

Pasteurized milk! Tropical nuts! A delicious new home economy!

As a spread for bread, rolls or hot biscuits, Brednut has a perfectly delicious flavor. Unless your husband is an exception to the many we have talked with, he will not be able to detect the slightest "difference."

Pure white Brednut is sold by your grocer in pound pats. With each pound he will give you a wholesome vegetable material which quickly colors your Brednut to a rich golden yellow.

A "Fussy" Sandwich for Special Occasions!

Use either brown or white bread. Cut in thin slices and spread with Brednut. Mix together a half cup of cream cheese, a teaspoonful of paprika and a quarter cup of sliced pecan meats. Spread the mixture on one slice of bread and scatter bits of pimento over it. Add the top slice. Cut into circles with a doughnut cutter. Your Brednut gives to all sandwiches a delicate, fresh flavor.

BABY, TEN MONTHS OLD, TALKS, HAS 16 TEETH

Mother Says Child Wonder Is In Demand as Booster for Patent Medicine.

Tuby H. McClung is ten months old. She laughs and shows sixteen perfectly formed teeth. She weighs 50 pounds, is 42 inches in height and measures 33 inches around chest, 33 inches around waist and 19 inches around thigh, talks, and her development is declared to be equal to that of a child of three.

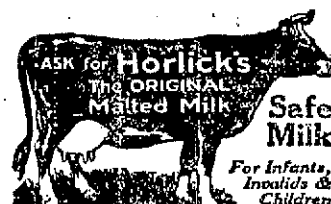

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McClung, the former sixty and the latter twenty-five, are the parents. They have one other child, a boy, three years old. They are of the average successful farmer type and their ancestors also were farmers, none of them having any extraordinary physical characteristics or being especially large in stature. They are used to hard work, but are in easy financial circumstances.

"We are as puzzled as anyone over the way the baby has grown," said Mrs. McClung, asked to explain why her daughter now weighs several pounds more than her three-year-old brother.

Mrs. McClung said the baby was healthy and there had been no occasion to have a doctor since she was born, nor had she ever given her a dose of medicine. "We have many visitors to see the baby," said Mrs. McClung. "It is rather amusing to listen to some of the strangers that come here wanting me to sign contracts for exhibiting my baby. One of them wanted a picture of the baby with a signed statement of the wonderful results of his patent medicine. But you know I couldn't do anything like that, for the baby never was given a dose of medicine."

Mrs. McClung said that when the baby was born she weighed only six pounds. Little Miss McClung's feet are so small now to support her unusual weight. So she does not walk yet.

Birch Wood Chief Fuel in Sweden. Domestic heating in Sweden would be little affected by coal strikes, for the most common fuel in that country is birch wood. The logs are usually cut during the winter months, and the pieces are piled in large stacks to dry until the next autumn. A half dozen or more piles, not unlike large haystacks in appearance, is a common sight in many sections of the country. The fireplaces are so constructed as to store the heat, so that virtually none of it is wasted.

And the Rest Is Silence.

An Englishman who knew no language but his own had lost his way in Rome. In his perplexity it occurred to him to write the name of his hotel in large letters on his back, and hand it to the first English-looking individual he met.

The Italian thus accosted turned around, and with the charming manner of his race, accompanied the perturbed Englishman for about twenty minutes in solemn silence, until they reached the hotel designated.

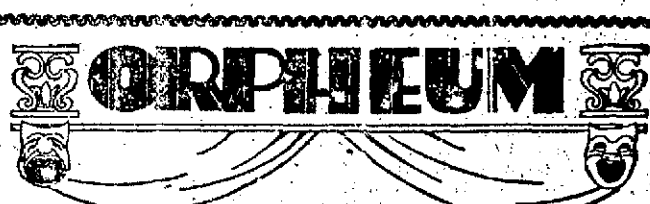

In a transport of joy at finding himself once more on known ground the tourist poured out valuable thanks in the only language at his command.

At this the Italian looked at him in amazement and remarked in perfect English:

"I thought you were deaf and dumb!"

Author Poorly Rewarded. "Black Beauty," the most successful animal classic ever written, was sold by the writer, Anna Sewall, for less than $100, says Vincent Starrett in the Mentor Magazine.

In America alone the book has achieved a circulation to date of more than 3,000,000 copies, yet the Quaker girl who wrote it on her sick bed, and whose life was one of remarkable bravery and cheerfulness under the most depressing circumstances, is practically unknown to fame. She was born in Yarmouth, England, March 30, 1820, and died 1877, one year after the book was published.

Furnace Coke Maintains Recent Advance, Holding Firm at $7.25 to $7.50

Stiffening of Market Traceable to Blast Furnace Resumptions.

FOUNDRY TRIFLE EASIER

Spot of Prompt Shipment Ranging $7.50 to $8.50; Steam Coal Eases Off; By Product Available at $3.00-$3.50; Pig Iron Declines in All Districts.

Special to The Weekly Courier

PITTSBURG, Nov. 29.—The furnace coke market in the past week has easily maintained its recent advance, and has been firm at $7.25 to $7.50 for spot and prompt, with $8.00 to $8.50 demanded for regular shipments over the month of December.

While no further important resumptions have been announced as to blast furnaces requiring Connellsville coke, the market is still subject to the stiffening effect of the resumptions reported a week ago. These resumptions, involving a total of five furnaces using merchant coke, are quite sufficient to take up the slack produced by increases in coke production in the past few weeks.

There is some current buying of spot and prompt coke by furnaces which are moderately well supplied by their contracts, but are not averse to having a little extra coke in view of the probability of shipments being interrupted more or less in December by adverse weather conditions affecting transportation.

An interesting feature of the situation is that one or two operators having good sized contract obligations have been more or less regular buyers of choice lots of coke in the open market, to apply on contracts. They have additional orders they could put in blast, having sufficient labor available for the purpose, but have doubts whether car supplies in the next few weeks would support an enlarged operation.

The foundry coke market is a trifle easier in the week in its general range. There is some fair coke usually to be picked up at $7.50, against a $7.75 minimum a week ago, while there is less disposition to hold the best grades at $8.50, a more common figure being $8.00. The $8.50 price, however, has not entirely disappeared. Prices are for spot or prompt shipment. There is no regular contract market. The coke market for spot or prompt shipment, is quotable as follows:

Furnace coke $7.25 to $7.50
Foundry coke $7.50 to $8.50

All grades of coal except domestic lump have eased off further in the past week. Pittsburgh district steam coal is steady at $2.75, while a week ago some coal was bringing $3.00. Connellsville steam coal of the lower grades is going at $2.25 to $2.50, supplies of coal in general being better, so that buyers have an opportunity to be discriminating. By-product coal shows a wide range of price, according to tonnage and quality. Some can be picked up in spot lots at $3.00 and still more at $2.25, while occasionally $3.50 is paid for good grades. Several producers are unwilling to go below $3.75 or $4.00 and while they may not effect fresh sales with such asking prices they will be able to adjust prices for December shipments on their contracts to their advantage. Younglough's gas coal is quotable at $3.00 to $3.50 for mine-run, open market sales running towards the lower figure in the range, while adjustments are at higher prices, on account of regularity in supply.

Domestic coal has stiffened in the past week and on the whole the demand is decidedly above the offerings. While the Pittsburgh Coal Company continues to bill its domestic coal at $4.50, distributing its available supply to regular customers, prices of $4.75 to $5.00 are freely paid in the open market to other operators.

Pig iron prices continue to show a declining tendency in practically all districts, and the Valley market has not been at all behindhand in this respect in the past week. There is an almost complete absence of demand for Bessemer or basic, while in foundry iron purchases are very small. Individually all consumers are determined to postpone buying as long as possible. Consumption is of fair proportions only, cases of increased operation by foundries being exceptional, although there are some, including a prominent foundry in the Connellsville region.

Bessemer pig iron, quotable nominally at $31.50, Valley, at the beginning of last week is now offered at $28.50, or $3 decline, while basic iron is offered $1.50 lower, at $26.50. In each case the price mentioned is an asking price rather than a settling price for there are scarcely any transactions even in small lots. Foundry iron shows a more regular market, as there are sales every day, but the sales are running to unusually small tonnages individually. The market is off about $1 in the week in some quarters. Predictions are being made that December will witness a regular buying movement in foundry iron of some proportions, although heavy buying for extended delivery is not expected until consumers are able to develop more confidence in prices. The market is now quotable as follows:

Bessemer $28.50
Basic $26.50
Malleable $27.00
Foundry $27.00

These prices are for Valley furnaces freight to Pittsburgh being $1.77

LOAR-ROEHRIG WEDDING IS A BRILLIANT ONE

Is Solemnized at United Brethren Church at Mount Pleasant.

RECEPTION FOLLOWS IT

Special to The Courier.
MOUNT PLEASANT, Dec. 1.—One of the prettiest weddings ever solemnized here was that of Miss Florence Emma Loar, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. B. M. Loar of College avenue, and Frederick Austin Roehrig, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Roehrig of Pasadena, Cal., which took place in the United Brethren Church at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening. Rev. T. C. Harper of Lancaster officiated, assisted by Rev. J. D. Good, pastor of the United Brethren Church. The ring ceremony was used. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore white frosted crepe with a court train and her tulle veil held in place by a band of pearls. Her bouquet was butterfly roses, showered with lilies of the valley. Miss Catherine Loar was her maid of honor and wore orchid crepe and silver cloth and carried Sweetheart roses. The other attendants of Miss Loar were her Sorority sisters. Mrs. Roland Durant of Columbus, O., and Mrs. Frank Seibert of Mount Union, were matrons of honor. Mrs. Durant wore orchid crepe and silver cloth and carried yellow chrysanthemums. Mrs. Seibert wore yellow crepe and silver cloth and carried orchid chrysanthemums. Miss Lucy Evans of Ben Avon was bridesmaid and wore yellow crepe and silver cloth and carried chrysanthemums. Byron M. Loar, Jr., a brother of the bride, was Mr. Roehrig's best man.

The ushers were Oliver Collins of Mount Pleasant, Lloyd Bowman of Latrobe, Robert Davis of Pittsburg and Frank Seibert of Mount Union.

Mrs. R. P. Hase presided at the organ and previous to the ceremony gave several numbers that were greatly appreciated by the guests.

A reception followed at the assembly rooms of the Bank & Trust building, with Dr. and Mrs. Loar and the members of the bridal party in the receiving line.

Mrs. Roehrig is a graduate of Otterbein College and Mr. Roehrig is a graduate of Oregon State University and of Leland Stanford University, California.

Following an eastern trip Mr. and Mrs. Roehrig will be at home at 129 Coal street, Wilkesburg.

FROCKS FOR LITTLE WOMEN

Comfortable Apron Developed in Wool Jersey; Gown's Follow Line of Grownups' Wear.

For the little girls of from four to ten years old the comfortable summer apron dress has been developed in wool jersey. With its wicker bloomers and attractive overalls it makes a practical and inexpensive school costume.

One of the most attractive models is to be found in the jumper dress which somehow gives to the eight-year-old a delightfully prim air. In this little dress of dark blue velvet with its heavy linen blouse, mannish cuffs, equipped with red cufflinks, round collar and red leather belt the little girl becomes a miniature replica of her college sister.

Velvet combined with soft woolen cloth is extremely popular. Most attractive is the brown velvet smock blouse and the lighter brown woolen crepe skirt. These wool crepe and mixture weaves. One dark blue substitute for the over-present severe. They are somewhat dressier in character and may be used alone or in combination with soft silks or velvets.

Coats are cheaper than they have been for some years past. The dressier models are made for the most part with the loose, full back, but with a conservative sleeve. Best of all for the youthful, though, are the tweed and mixture weaves. One dark blue imported model is particularly attractive. The material is of uneven roughness, with an almost indistinct pattern worked out in bright fleckings of contrasting blues, reds and tans.

School days call for school frocks. And the word school is indicative of middie blouses and plaid skirts. All white middies may be chosen, or middies with Copenhagen, or red at collar and cuffs, and with a similarly colored emblem on one sleeve. Striped or plaid skirts go with these. These may be box or side plaited.

Over this costume a polo coat may be worn. Polo coats are beloved by every schoolgirl. And here is the latest for the schoolgirl's millinery wardrobe—angora felt hats with gregarious silk quilts.

For parties, what could be prettier than a white net dress with oodles and oodles of frills? To be worn over this, a white coat with fuzzy rabbit fur trimming. And a white ribbon hat. The picture is proof adequate of its charm.

And then, finally, it may be noted that here in the land of the young fashions, simplicity must govern style.

CRAZE FOR THE OLD STYLES

Headgear Modes of the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Centuries Attract Milady's Attention.

There seems to be a craze for reviving the styles of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. In hats this is particularly noticeable. The newest chapeaus, the picture sort, are direct copies of some of the luscious hats perched immortally on the heads of Gainsborough and Rembrandt beauties. Once upon a time it was the custom to laugh lightly at the enormous headgear of a Gainsborough belle. Nowadays, however, the garden party hats are almost as large as any which that artist painted.

Public's Razz.
Today we walk in haughtiest pride, And hear the male's jazz. Tomorrow we may hang our heads, And hear the public's razz!

Discharged!
Judge—You are charged with running down a policeman. What have you to say for yourself?
Motorist—I didn't know he was an officer, your honor. I thought he was just a pedestrian.

Dead Loss.
"Can you gaze at those lofty, snow-capped peaks and not be thrilled by nature's handiwork?"
"Not a thrill," replied the practical person. "What good is a mountain without a hotel on it?"

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

Mother's Helper.
One of the things my daughter most loves to do is to polish silver for me. I cover the kitchen table with newspaper, put her on a high stool, tie an apron around her, and let her work while I do some task nearby. She puts on the polish, wipes the different sorts up neatly, and gives them a final rub. This helps me, and satisfies her desire to "mess" at something. (Copyright, 1933, Associated Editors)

LESS MEAT IF BACK AND KIDNEYS HURT

Take a Glass of Suits to Finish Kidneys If Bladder Bothers You.

Eating too much meat may produce kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jael Suits, from any good pharmacy, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous suit is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so that it no longer irritates, thus often ending bladder disorders.

Jael Suits cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders.—Advertisement.

Frocks
$19.75

A splendid group of the latest arrivals in semi-dress frocks. These appealing modish frocks that are in so much demand for church, the matinee, afternoon calls, bridge parties, in fact, any but a pronouncedly formal occasion. In the blue, brown or black tones so often used today.

Most of these frocks are developed in Canton Crepe or one of the fall silks but there are a few Polart Twills for those who prefer wool. They embody all the prevailing style features shown on the most exclusive garments of the season's offering. Hem, sleeve and neck will attest the correctness of these frocks.

What is Castoria

CASTORIA is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrup. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, it is the assimilation of Food, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Comfort—The Mother's Friend. It was only after years of research in the fields of herbs and roots for a combination of purely vegetable matter that would have all the virtues of Castor Oil, without its disagreeable, nauseating properties, especially when used for infants or children, that the formula used in Fletcher's Castoria was found, and which for over 30 years has proven its worth. Try it. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Dr. J. C. Fletcher

The BLIND MAN'S EYES

BY
WILLIAM MACHARG-EDWIN BALMER
Illustrations by R.H. Livingstone

COPYRIGHT BY LITTLE, BROWN, AND COMPANY

"Could he have revived half an hour ago—any within the hour—enough to have pressed the button and rung the bell from his berth?"

Sinclair straightened and gazed at the conductor curiously. "No, certainly not," he replied. "That is completely impossible. Why did you ask?"

Connelly avoided answer. But Avery pushed forward. "What is that? What's that?" he demanded.

"Will you go on with your examination, Doctor?" Connelly urged.

"You said the bell from this berth rang recently!" Avery accused Connelly.

"The pointer in the washroom, indicating a signal from this berth, was turned down a minute ago," Connelly had to reply. "A few moments earlier all pointers had been set in the position indicating 'no call'."

"That was before you found the body?"

"That was why I went to the berth," Connelly replied. "That was before I found the body."

"Then you mean you did not find the body," Avery charged. "Someone, passing through this car a minute or so before you, must have found him!"

Connelly attended without replying. "And evidently that man dared not report it and could not wait longer to know whether Mr. Dorne was really dead; no he rang the bell!"

"Ought we keep Doctor Sinclair any longer from the examination, sir?" Connelly now seized Avery's arm to appeal.

"The first thing for us to know is whether Mr. Dorne is dying, isn't it?"

Connelly checked himself; he had won his appeal. Eaton, standing quietly watchful, observed that Avery's eagerness to accuse had been replaced by another interest which the conductor's words had recalled.

Whether the man in the berth was to live or die—evidently that was momentarily to affect Donald Avery one way or the other.

"Of course, by all means proceed with your examination, Doctor," Avery directed.

As Sinclair again bent over the body Avery leaned over also; Eaton gazed down, and Connelly's little pale face before and with lips tight.

CHAPTER VI

"Isn't This Basil Santone?" The surgeon, having finished looking into the palmar, pulled open and carefully removed the jacket part, leaving the upper part of the body of the man in the berth exposed.

Conductor Connelly turned to Avery. "You have no objection to my taking a list of the articles in the berth?"

Avery seemed to oppose; then, apparently, he recognized that this was an obvious part of the conductor's duty. "None at all," he replied.

Connelly gathered up the clothing, the glasses, the watch and purse, and laid them on the seat across the aisle. Sitting down, then, opposite them, he examined them, and, taking everything from the pockets of the clothing, he began to catalogue them before Avery. He counted over the gold and banknotes in the purse and entered the amount upon his list.

"You know about what he had with him?" he asked.

"Very closely. That is correct. Nothing is missing," Avery answered. The conductor opened the watch. "The crystal is missing."

Avery nodded. "Yes; it always—that is, it was missing yesterday."

Connelly looked up at him, as though slightly puzzled by the manner of the reply; then, having finished his list, he rejoined the surgeon.

"Sinclair's side still bending over the naked torso. It had been a strong, healthy body; Sinclair guessed its age at fifty. As a boy, the man might have been an athlete—a college track-runner or oarsman—and he had kept himself in condition through middle age. There was no mark or bruise upon the body, except that on the right side, and just below the ribs there now showed a scar about an inch and a half long and of peculiar crescent shape. It was evidently a surgical scar and had completely healed."

Sinclair scrutinized this carefully and then looked up to Avery. "He was operated on recently?"

"About two years ago."

"For what?"

"It was some operation on the gall-bladder."

"Performed by Kuno Garret?"

Avery hesitated. "I believe so."

He watched Sinclair more closely as he continued his examination. Connelly touched the surgeon on the arm. "What must be done, Doctor? And where and when do you want to do it?"

Sinclair, however, it appeared, had not yet finished his examination. "Will you pull down the window curtains?" he directed.

As Connelly, reaching across the body, complied, the surgeon took a matchbox from his pocket, and "lancing about at the three others as though to select from them the one most likely to be an efficient aid, he handed it to Eaton. "Will you help me, please? Strike a light and hold it as I direct—then draw it away slowly."

He lifted the partly closed eyelid from one of the eyes of the unconscious man and nodded to Eaton: "Hold the light in front of the pupil."

Eaton, obeying, drawing the light slowly away as Sinclair had directed, and the surgeon dropped the eyelid and exposed the other pupil.

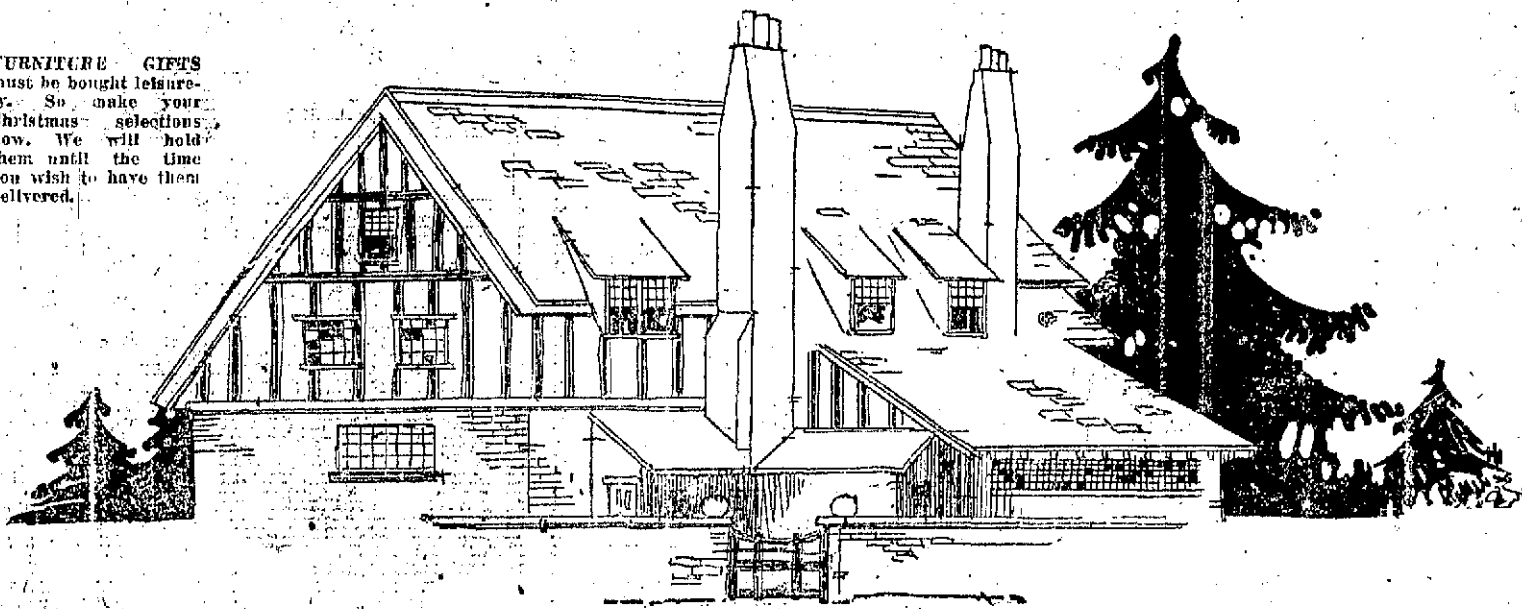

"What's that for?" Avery now asked.

"I was trying to determine the seriousness of the injury to the brain. I was looking to see whether light could cause the pupil to contract. There was no reaction."

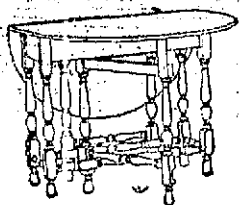

Avery started to speak, checked himself—and then he said: "There could be no reaction. I believe, Doctor Sinclair."

Why Have High Blood Pressure?

Connellsville Drug Co. Is Now Dispensing a Buffalo Physician's Prescription That Does Reduce High Blood Pressure.

Just ask for NORMA—a purely vegetable combination used in private practice for years with wonderful success, and only lately offered direct through druggists.

If you have dizzy spells, are nervous, restless or moody and don't sleep well, then you probably have high blood pressure and don't know it.

NORMA is for high blood pressure and nothing else and one bottle will prove it. Many women at the important change in life have found it the only remedy that really helps. You can get it at the Connellsville Drug Co. and all good druggists. Ask for NORMA.—Advertisement

LOGICAL

Isabel, aged nine, had just been told the story of Daniel in the lion's den. Then mother asked: "And what do you think Daniel did the very first thing after he was saved from the lions?"

Without much hesitation, Isabel replied: "Why, he must have telephoned home to his wife to tell her he was all right."—The Northwestern Bell

The Gift That Every Woman Loves

OUR GIFT LINGERIE is new merchandise, bought especially for Holiday Shoppers. It surpasses in luxury and beauty anything we've ever shown before. If lingerie is to be one of your gifts—this is the place to seek it!

Silk

Soft tones of white, flesh and orchid conspire with the smooth loveliness of silk to make lingerie delightful beyond expression. One finds real fillet lace and Parisian rosebuds used for trimmings. Straps of two tone ribbon and many another fancy that is alluring. We are ready with chemise, gowns, step-ins, bloomers—anything that you may want. $3.95 to $12.75 per garment.

Second Floor.

Philippine

A gift that will appeal to every practical friend is a bit of Philippine lingerie. Its daintiness is appealing. We are showing only the better grades. A hand made corset cover is $2.00. Handmade gowns run from $2.50 to $5.00. Strap or built up shoulders are found on handmade lingerie. And prices range $2.50 to $3.50. The embellishments are colored ribbon and carefully done embroidery.

A Length of Radiant Lovely Silk

ONCE UPON a time a clever woman decided to give a gift just a little "different," so she chose a length of silk for her mother who liked to select her own style from her favorite fashion magazine. The Fabric Section is brimming over with the smartest of the new fabrics—weaves that can be transformed into chic draped frocks or sumptuous wraps. Crepe de Londres, 40 inches wide, shows a new grained surface. In black and mohawk, $4.50 yd. 40 in. Chiffon Velvet in black, navy and brown is $6 and $7.25 a yard. Araba Coating, glorious and soft, in black and navy, is $10 yd.

The Doll Phones—ranging in size from tiny uprights for tiny dolls to miniature baby grinds. They play real music too, and they're prettily finished. $1.25 to $12.

The Washing Machines that run either by electricity or by hand. No matter how dirty your doll gets her clothes, it'll only take a minute to freshen them up. $6 and $10.

Mother Goose—and her family who waddle across a carpet as proudly as any duck family that ever you've seen. A fine toy for baby. $1.50.

Store Downstairs.

The Tool Chests—that give real boys a chance to develop their natural abilities by using real tools in a real way. The assortments are splendid! $8.50 to $13.50.

The Blackboards—you can learn to write on them, you can draw funny pictures on them—and when you get tired they make dandy little desks. $3.50 to $6.75.

The Trains—real trains on real tracks. Some of them run by electricity $7 to $21.50. Others run when they've been wound up. More fun than a circus—$1.75 to $3.

The Football Sets and the baseball sets that bring you the things you need to play your favorite games. Balls, bats, jerseys, and such like. $2.75 and $7.50.

The Baby Toys—Mother Goose, Clowns, Bunnies and Rabbits in really pretty toys that are lots of fun. All sorts of bouncing balls. And a myriad other toys just for babies.

GLOVES for Gifts

GLOVES are another gift that every Christmas finds in high favor. At least they eliminate any uncertainty as to whether the gift you give will find favor or not.

Short kid gloves, two button, in black and white or black with fancy white embroidered backs are $1.85 to $3.25 per pair. Brown plique gloves in pure white make an unusually distinctive gift. They have pearl clasps and embroidered backs, $3.00. Cash gauntlets in good shades are $4. Washable fabric gloves $1.50 up.

Main Floor.

HANDCHIEFS for Gifts

DON'T FAIL to visit the booth we have devoted entirely to the display of the new Christmas handkerchiefs. The styles are so dainty, and exquisite and different that it's really worth your while going out of your way to see them.

Bobinette is a new, filmy material that's being used for borders in many a clever way. There are loads of clever initialed handkerchiefs. Many handkerchiefs are imported and represent the best that foreign lands have been able to produce.

Merchants Again Overtake Furnace Operators in the Production Gain Contest

Joint Increase Largest of Year, Advancing Total to 201,100 Tons.

NEARING 1920 AVERAGE

Region Doing Relatively Better Now With 47 Per Cent of Its Ovens Running; Only Slight Improvement Car Supply Since Lake Season Closed.

From The Weekly Courier.

The game of tag, between the furnace and merchant coke producers of the Connelville region, by which one group takes first place in larger production gains one week to be crowded out of that position by the other group in the succeeding week, continues with considerable regularity. Last week the merchants, who had trailed behind during the week preceding, outdistanced their rivals for leadership, as they had previously been passed at the quarter post by the furnace producers.

Coincident with the change in relative positions the merchants made the record gain of 10,220 tons, or 1,720 tons more than the furnace gain of 8,500 tons. The joint gain of 18,720 tons was quite the largest in a single week since the resumption movement began and had the effect of advancing the regional tonnage to the new high figure of 201,100 tons, which has not been reached, much less exceeded, since the second week in December, 1920, when the total was 208,420 tons. During 1920 the weekly average production was 202,600 tons. The production of last week having been only 1,600 tons less shows that the prediction of some weeks ago, that output would sooner or later attain the 1920 average or greater, is in very fair way of early fulfillment.

In some respects the region is doing relatively better now than when it was producing 208,000 tons weekly. Then it had 21,150, or 69 per cent of its ovens in blast. Now it has but 16,580, or 47 per cent. In 1920 it had suffered no disorganization of plant forces by a strike or other cause. It had its car troubles which, like the poor, are almost always domesticated in the region, but otherwise it was in better shape than at this time to make production records. In 1920 the furnace plants had about one-third more ovens in running than at this time and almost twice as many as the merchants were then operating. The division at this time shows still greater disparity between the interests, there being 10,891 furnace ovens in production, as against 6,080 merchant.

Although the close of the Lake coal season is causing the diversion of cars to the traffic generally, it is not operating to very materially increase the supply. Certain types of cars which were permitted to be used in hauling coal to the lakes have been taken out of the coal trade altogether. Others are being placed in the iron and steel trade, which has been inconvenient almost as much as the coal trade by car shortage. Considerable congestion exists at various points which is holding both empty and loaded cars on the tracks in yards and to that extent is preventing greater dispatch in car movement, which is the greatest of all the transportation troubles with which shippers have to contend.

The situation in the coke region shows no material change. Coke car supply is somewhat better than coal car supply, which condition has prevailed for months past. The Pennsylvania is giving rather better service than some weeks ago but the Baltimore & Ohio makes comparatively little headway toward improvement. For the first time for several weeks there was very little stocking of coke on the yards last week.

The estimated production of coke during the week ended Saturday, November 25, was 201,100 tons, credited to the two districts as follows: Connelville, 127,380, an increase of 8,760 tons; Lower Connelville, 73,740, an increase of 9,970 tons, or a total increase of 18,720 as compared with an increase of 5,500 tons during the preceding week.

By interests the production was: Furnace, 128,350, a gain of 8,500 tons; merchant, 72,750, a gain of 10,220 tons, as compared with gains of 4,250 and 1,250 tons respectively during the week ended November 18.

There was a gain of 575 ovens during the week, 221 at furnace and 353 at merchant plants. The furnace gains were all at plants of the H. C. Frick Coke Company; the merchant divided between 116 at plants of W. J. Rainey, Inc., and 236 at other producers. The increases in detail were as follows:

Furnace: Davidson, one; Leith, 19; Lemont No. 2, 18; Redstone, 37; Standard, 20; Colonial No. 3, 126.

Merchant: Elm Grove, one; Fort Hill, eight; Mount Braddock, two; Ravara, 38; Alliance No. 2, 67; Gilmore, 10; Oliver No. 1, 30; Oliver No. 2, 29; Adah, eight; Edna, 10; Hope, 38; Lincoln, 28; Mount Hope, 88; Colonial No. 3 and Hope were newly fired.

The estimated production of coke in net tons in the Connelville and Lower Connelville districts, by weeks, with the total compared with the corresponding week of 1921, is shown in the following:

MILL OPERATION AT 75-80%, HIGHEST IN MORE THAN TWO YEARS

Transportation Conditions Better But Still Difficulty From Car Shortage and Embargoes.

Special to The Weekly Courier.
NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—The American Metal Market and Daily Iron & Steel Report will review the steel and iron trade tomorrow as follows:
Steel ingot production continues at a rate of fully 40,000,000 tons a year, representing an average mill operation between 75 and 80 per cent, the highest rate in more than two years. Some predictions had been made that before this date a curtailment would have begun, through some buyers instructing mills to suspend or reduce shipments, but thus far there is no evidence of such predictions being verified.

Transportation conditions have undergone a slight further improvement, but there is still difficulty, both with car supplies and with embargoes. Shipments of steel products are fully equal to production, but not all the recent accumulations have been made. The valleys are now fairly clear, except in sheets.

The American Sheet & Tin Plate

Company has continued its former prices, 2.50c for blue annealed, 2.35c for black, 4.50c for galvanized and 4.70c for automobile sheets for first quarter shipment, and 4.75c for consumers. A number of independent producers had expected advances, and are correspondingly disappointed. The sheet bar market for first quarter will probably be not under $35 nor over $36.
Finished steel products in general are unchanged in price. While there have been occasional concessions from 2.00c for bars, shape or plates on particularly desirable orders, for several weeks, mills seem determined to maintain this price if possible through the first quarter. Pipe is very firm at 65 per cent discount, nails being likewise firm at $2.70.
The turnover in the open market in steel products continues light. Some sheet, tin plate, shape and plate mills are not fully booked to January 1, while other mills are booked far beyond that date.
Pig iron continues to show a declining tendency in practically all markets. In the Pittsburgh Valley region Bessemer and basic are particularly easy on account of steel works offerings. Some observers predict a buying movement in foundry iron in December.

Acquire Byrre Coal Property.
The purchase of 384 acres of smokeless coal and a mining plant, at Byrre, near Tygart's Junction, Barbour county, by the Howard Smokeless Coal Company from the Byrre Coal Company is announced. The deal is one of the largest negotiated in central and northern West Virginia in recent months.

COAL INDUSTRY IS EVEN MORE UNSTABLE THAN BEFORE STRIKE

Says Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover in His Annual Report.

GREAT OVEREXPANSION

Due to Car Shortages, War Demand and Profits and Competition Between Non-Union and Union Districts suggests Storage Practice.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29. — The highly unstable functioning of the bituminous industry resulted in the worst strike in its history, and the strike closed with even a more unstable situation than before, says Herbert Hoover, secretary of the Department of Commerce, in his report for the fiscal year 1933-34. There can be no remedy until primary causes have been fully analyzed and treated. Our bituminous coal fields are of enormous extent and the capital required to open new mines is comparatively small. There are approximately over 8,000 bituminous mines with an annual capacity of about 350,000,000 tons, or about 300,000,000 tons beyond the present normal national needs. The normal demand, if spread evenly over the year, would be about 10,000,000 tons per week. It varies actually from 7,500,000 to 12,000,000 tons per week at different seasons of the year. The total capacity of about 350,000,000 tons per week is 4,000,000 over the maximum demand. We need a reserve capacity for the ebb and flow of business tides, but 12,000,000 tons per week would give 320,000,000 tons per annum, an ample supply.

The overexpansion of the industry is to a considerable degree due to— (a) Annual shortage of cars and consequent scarcity, with temporary high price levels and large profits; periodic strikes and threats of strikes creating congested demand with consequent periodic high prices and profits. These high-profit periods induce speculative expansion of the industry.

(b) War demand and profits. The frozen wages over long periods in the union field enables the nonunion field to undercut wages in competitive periods and thus secure more continuous operation. There is, therefore, a constant expansion in nonunion fields with increasing intermittency in union fields.

The worst effect of overexpansion is its by-product of labor waste and partial underemployment of labor and its necessary unrest, because the overcapacity of the industry results not in the permanent closing of some mines but in the operation of all of them more or less intermittently. Thus the working personnel is held attached to such mine in daily hopes of employment. Entirely outside of strike suspensions, our preliminary investigation shows that in the best of recent years the bituminous mines operated only about 249 days out of a possible 365; whereas in most years the average is about 210, as against about 295 days in England and over 300 days in Germany. If we subtract the mines which are operating regularly for certain metallurgical and railway supplies, we will find that the situation is even worse, for the remainder of the bituminous mines are probably operating an average of less than 180 days (more than 127 days' lost time out of the year), and this entirely outside of the loss of time due to national strikes. Nor is this all of the situation, for some mines operate less than 100 days. The perpetual labor difficulties are in large degree the result of a constant struggle for such remuneration, based upon day's pay and piece rates, as will give a standard of living to that portion of the men who are employed from 40 to 60 per cent of their time. A large minority of workers are thus honeycombed with the discontent that arises from the worst stimulant to unrest— insecurity of employment and part time employment.

Another factor is the somewhat seasonal character of the industry, which can only be cured by storage. Heating requirements are responsible for a considerable part of this seasonal demand, but storage by heating consumers is impracticable. The most constructive storage would come from public utilities and railways, which would result in giving a larger proportion of production to the heating consumption during cold weather. Minor vicious cycles originate from the periodic shortage in transportation. The more favorable prices to railways than to the public follow from the railroad's ability to assure cars. The necessary regulations for equal car distribution and the consequent division of business, between high cost and unsystematic mines, result at once in prices that keep the high-cost mines alive. The industrial community bears the major part of the cost of maintaining an industry 30 per cent overexpanded and overmanned. And it bears even a larger cost from the dangers of interruption, due to national strikes and to the uncertainty of coal prices, that vary as much as 800 per cent annually. Fully one-third of the national coal bill would be eliminated by a stable industry.

Owing to the stoppage of immigration, the ranks will soon be difficult to recruit, unless there can be an economy in labor through loss of lost time. Beyond all this, the very real human suffering due to part-time employment and strikes is a national price that in itself warrants the most earnest effort to secure stability.

The primary cure for overexpansion and intermittent operation is to secure full continuous competition and thus the freezing out of high cost and uneconomic producers. This cure could be secured at once (a) If there were ample transportation at all times; (b) If there were greater freedom from strikes by better development of employment relations;

(c) If there were storage to overcome some part of the seasonal character of the industry.

Business Callers Are Selfish

A business man was telling me recently that whenever anyone came to see him and inquired if he were busy he invariably replied, "no matter how busy he was."

"No, not at all. What did I say for you?" His idea was that courtesy required him thus to put the caller at ease. Visitors stayed too long and recently this man tied the experiment of replying, when asked if he is busy: "Yes, I am pretty busy, but I can give you a moment or two. What is it?"

But his callers stay exactly the same length of time, he says, that they used to stay when he said he wasn't busy. In other words, most callers are selfish and stay as long as they want to, unless compelled to go sooner. Fred Kelly in the Nation's Business.

THE VELVET COWN

Combination of Black and White Makes Winsome Outfit.

One of the Accepted Materials for Afternoon and Evening Dresses;
Much Trimming Added.

Black velvet is certainly one of the accepted materials for afternoon and evening dresses, observes a fashion authority in the New York Times.
While it is always good during every winter season, this year it is better than ever, and at all of the collections shown by the smart dressmakers there is a preponderance of black velvet, made up in many and original ways.
There is not a great deal of trimming added, for the material is honored to the extent of holding the floor by itself. But the fabric is handled in such a way that in itself it manages to take the place of both foundation and decoration, too. And many of the gowns made from it are beautiful in their expression.

It is one of the newer ideas to use cloth with black velvet, and usually the silver takes secondary place, while the velvet holds the center of the stage. The silver is used very often for necks or for the facings of wide bows. It is used over and over again for facings. Silver ribbons and silver flowers are placed at intervals for spots of decoration.
And then there are the silver and white embroideries scattered over the surface of black velvet, to give it a light and sparkling appearance.

Dinner gowns of black velvet are particularly lovely, for they have a semi-formal appearance which is most attractive, and they are even better than the full evening dresses, for they can afford to have a good deal more trimming and to be fuller and more graceful in line—that is, graceful with reference to the quality of the fabric.

Black velvet is also extremely good for evening coats and is trimmed with the fullest and most sumptuous of furs, so that the whole wrap takes on that luxurious quality so to be desired for evening wear.

White velvet is also one of the favorite materials for evening, and sometimes these two are combined in a most effective manner. A frock of black and white velvet has a little, loose jacket of the white and that is embroidered with threads of black and gray and silver in a lacey pattern around the edges of the little coat.
There is a fringe of white to make a faux and the costume succeeds in being the most effective of its sort. The wide sleeves are faced in white and the gown manages, chiefly by reason of its contrast, to create a distinctly picturesque appearance.

COULD NOT TURN IN BED

Operation Avoided by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Dayton, Ohio.—"I had such pains that I had to be turned in bed every time I wished to move. They said an operation was necessary. My mother would keep saying, 'Why don't you take Pinkham's, Henrietta?' and I'd say, 'Oh, mamma, it won't help me, I've tried too much.' One day she said, 'Let me get you one bottle of each kind. You won't be out very much if it don't help you.' I don't know if you will believe me or not, but I only took two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and one of Lydia E.
Pinkham's Blood Medicine when I began to get relief and I am regular ever since without a pain or a headache.

When I lie down I can get up without help and without pain. I can't begin to tell you how I feel and look. I have begun to gain in weight and look more like
I ought to. I think every day of ways
I have been helped. Any one who does not believe me can write to me and I will tell them what shape I was in. I am ready to do anything I can to help your medicine."—Mrs. HENRIETTA MILLER,

If you have any doubt write to Mrs.
Miller and get her story direct.

THE HIGH HEELS ARE BACK

Straight Line at Back Rather Than Curved Types; Height Comes With Long Skirt.

Following the vogue for browns, many of the smartest women on the continent complete their costumes with white stockings and brown slippers.

There is always a smart note in the slipper of brown, even in seasons when it is not particularly favored,
and the new ones with their square
colonial buckles are stunning.

Heels, by the way, are at least two inches high for fall. They show the straightline at the back, which is Spanish, rather than the curving outline of the true French heel. High heels are the result of the long skirt vogue, which without doubt has come to stay for a season at least.

The Harem Hat.
Though autumn is here, there is no wasting today of a style which came into being originally as a result of warm weather—the harem hat. This is the mushroom hat of wide brim from which droops a six-inch double fold of chiffon extending almost to the tip of the nose. Such a hat was seen recently, faced and covered with pink mauve chiffon and gave a delightfully rosy tint to the upper half of the face.

Autumn Hats.
Autumn clothes have made their appearance and among the new things are flattering little hats of rows of velvet ribbon stitched together. The colors are particularly good and the hats stand any amount of crushing and packing.

Coat Dresses.
Coat dresses are heavily braided.
This gives the weight such a frock needs. The skirts are usually circular and side panels are almost

Health Talk on

Rheumatism

The most common types of rheumatism are MUSCULAR and ARTICULAR or better known as INFAMMATORY RHEUMATISM, as well as the chronic form of both types.

Where the pain is found in nerve-endings of muscles or their points of attachment the condition is known as MUSCU-LAR RHEUMATISM. This condition is the small of the back is commonly called LUMBAGO.

Inflammatory rheumatism usually affects the joints such as the wrist, ankle, elbow and knee and may affect all joints of the body. They become hot, red, swollen, tender and very painful upon motion. If this condition is not quickly relieved the joints may become stiff and the bones deformed.

Any form of rheumatism is very painful and is intensified during cold and stormy seasons.
In relieving rheumatism
CHIROPRACTIC is being credited with astonishing results.
CHIROPRACTIC offers the opportunity to sufferers of rheumatism of ridding the body of this painful condition and restoring normal HEALTH and VIGOR to the body.

NEWS OF DAY AT SCOTSDALE BRIEFLY TOLD

Uniontown Volleyball Players
Coming to Town Evening of December 6.

LEAGUE BEING FORMED

Special to The Courier.

SCOTSDALE, Dec. 1.—On Wednesday, December 6, the members of the two Uniontown volleyball teams with their wives and friends numbering 35, will come to Scottdale and meet the business men's teams. It is expected that there will be an excellent turnout of business men. Following the game there will be refreshments and a social evening. The Scottdale teams will likely be chosen from the following men: Bill Miller, Joe Knowles, Frank Newcomer, Arthur Loucks, Lee Meltinger, E. B. Glasgow, J. N. Waughman, W. S. Wiley, H. R. Parker, Homer Graft, Carlisle Bell, Frank Meltinger, Marie Waughman and O. M. Jarrett.

On Tuesday evening a meeting was held at the Y. M. C. A. at which time steps were taken to organize a combination bowling and volleyball league. The Methodist Episcopal Church was represented by A. Skemp, E. H. Willard and O. M. Jarrett; the Reformed by J. N. Waughman; the United Presbyterian by Donald Camlin; the United Brethren by H. Merrett.

O. M. Jarrett was elected president. He appointed on the rules committee Mr. Willard, Mr. Jarrett and Mr. Van Norden. Another meeting is scheduled for Tuesday evening, at which time the Presbyterian, Baptist, Lutheran and Episcopal churches will have representatives present. Rules will be adopted and a list of players from each church will be approved. Bowling will start at 7 o'clock and will be followed by volleyball at 8:30 o'clock.

It will be decided at this meeting whether the games will be played on Tuesday or Thursday evenings.

Grange Meeting Postponed.
On account of the meeting of the stockholders of the insurance company at Uniontown on Saturday afternoon there will be no meeting of Eureka Grange. The next regular meeting will be held December 16, when all degrees will be conferred on candidates.

Sunrise Service.
The Otterbelle Guild of the United Brethren Church held a sunrise prayer meeting at the church yesterday morning. Breakfast was served at the church following the meeting.

Leaguers Hike.
The Senior and Intermediate leagues of the Methodist Episcopal Church held a hike yesterday, leaving the church at 6:45. Breakfast was served on their return by Mrs. C. W. Stauffer and Miss Minnie Warnock.

Thanksgiving Service.
The Union Thanksgiving service held in the Presbyterian Church yesterday morning was one of the most impressive held in Scottdale. Rev. C. C. Rich, president of the ministerium, presided. Rev. E. H. Laubach read the invocation. Rev. Judson Jeffries read the Thanksgiving proclamation. Rev. W. C. Work read the Bible lesson. Rev. E. B. Learish offered prayer. Rev. J. O. Glenn, president of the Associated Charities, gave a talk and introduced Mrs. Lucy A. Poole who read the year's report. Rev. Paul S. Wright delivered the sermon. Rev. J. H. H. Johnston pronounced the benediction.

Auxiliary to Hamilton-Maley Post will hold its regular meeting in the post rooms this evening.

IT CAN'T BE DONE!

The Butt of the Jokers

By ANNE WHITFIELD

Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union.

Harold Straker seemed naturally cut out for a butt, from his earliest days. Boys in the village school found that he could be sent for a pint of pigeon's milk or given impossible errands on April Fool's day. He rang up "Mr. Fish" at the state hatcheries, and got New York on long distance for "Mr. Lyons," to find it was the zoo.

Only one person seemed to have faith in him. That was Zoe Graves. "Harold, I do wish you didn't bite so often," she said when they were about fourteen. "You're such a nice boy, Harold, and it's just a shame, the way you trust everybody."

But Harold went on biting, even after he had entered the local office of the National Oil company, which meant, in a way, an assured future, even though he was only getting twenty dollars a week.

Some of the boys were jealous of Harold—notably Percy Spender, who was a rival for Zoe. And there were times when Zoe lost patience with Harold.

"Harold, can't you see that they're tormenting you?" she asked earnestly. "You believe everything—everything!"

"But when they said Jim Burton's child was dying, some one had to ride for the doctor," pleaded Harold.

"And how about Miss Hornker?" demanded Zoe. "Why did you go to the drug store on that impossible errand?"

"But Percy said she must have that saline immediately, Zoe."

"Yes, but what saline? Tulip saline. Two-hip saline, for an old maid! Oh, Harold, you're hopeless, I'm afraid!" said Zoe mournfully.

After that Harold knew that she saw more of Percy than she had done before. Even a devoted girl gets annoyed at a butt sometimes.

Harold was planning a visit to New York—his first—for which he had saved up fifty dollars. It was his week's holiday. The day before he left Spender came to him.

"Of course you intend to pay your respects to Mr. Cottonner," he said.

"Mr. Cottonner?" gasped Harold. "Why, he wouldn't see me!"

"He'll be extremely angry if he hears you've been in New York without seeing him," said Percy. "Don't you see, Harold, what a chance it is to get him to make Spoonville the northern state center for oil distribution? He expects the local men to come and talk things over with him. Why, I've drafted a letter for you to announce your visit!"

Harold read the typescript. It was a blatant announcement to Mr. Cottonner, the octogenarian head of the company, that he, Harold Straker, intended to pay a visit to New York for the purpose of discussing local affairs, and would call on him at his country home at Millwell Hills at a certain hour on the following Tuesday morning.

"Are you sure he'll want to see me?" gasped Harold.

"Your job won't be worth a week's purchase, if you don't see him," answered Percy.

Harold departed, having sent off the letter. Percy and the boys in the office saw him off at the station, and went back, chuckling. Harold registered at a small hotel to which he had been recommended, and went out to Mr. Cottonner's country home the following day.

He was so dazed that he hardly knew what happened until he found himself confronting the aged financier, who was sitting in a pillowed chair in his living-room.

The old man scrutinized him. "Sit down! Sit down!" he said testily. "Now what's this mad scheme of yours for making Spoonville the northern distribution center?"

he drew a diagram on Cottonner's immaculate blotting pad—would connect up with the southern reservoir. All the while Cottonner watched his face with growing eagerness. When Harold had ended he burst out:

"You're the right sort! I like your nerve! I wish all my men were like you! It's my own plan, and you've said it word for word! I was looking for a man. You're appointed head of the district at a hundred a week. That's enough! I know a good man when I see him! You'll get your letter of appointment tomorrow!"

Harold went home dazed. He went straight to Zoe's house. Percy was there, sitting on the sofa beside her.

"Why, here's Harold!" he exclaimed. "Well, well, and how did Cottonner receive you, Harold?"

Harold saw the blush of indignation on Zoe's face.

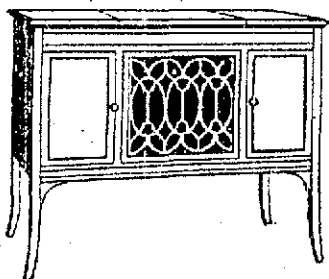

"Fine, Percy," he answered enthusiastically. "The scheme's gone through, and I'm to be manager at a hundred per. I'm so grateful to you fellows."

"Stop!" Zoe was on her feet. "Is that true, Harold? Do you mean that you saw Mr. Cottonner, and—"

"Sure it's true," answered Harold. And, with smooch, the bigger, submerged part of him came to the surface. "As true as that we're engaged. Haven't you told Percy?"

"N-no, not yet," faltered Zoe, blushing still deeper. "I—I was waiting for you to, Harold, dearest!"

Why We Like to Sell
Vitality
POULTRY FEEDS

First of all we know the manufacturers—Rosenbaum Brothers—through many years of dealings in grain. We have all the confidence in the world in this firm, which has been in business over fifty years. They have a reputation for square dealing.

Secondly, we knew, when they brought out, several years ago, a line of mixed feeds, that there were only good substantial materials used in them. They make the finest poultry feeds we know of, and that is the kind we want to sell our customers. You can rely absolutely upon getting results from Vitality Feeds. We are authorized by the makers to Guarantee Satisfaction or Money Back

That is as good evidence of high quality as anyone could ask for. We say to our friends in the poultry business, that you will feed Four-O-Clock Scratch Grains and Vitality Egg Mash if you ever try them once. Those who are feeding them now are getting wonderful results.

Why not come and see these two feeds, or order a sack of each by phone? We have a valuable book for you on poultry raising and egg production.

THIRD OF ARMY STORES REMAIN

United States Is in Immense War-Stocks Business

GET 15 PER CENT OF COST

Half-billion Dollars' Worth of Goods Disposed of During Past Year for $65,000,000—More Than 100,000 Different Articles Sold for Cash Through a Nation-Wide Auction Sale System—Government Faces Many Restrictions.

One of the largest business enterprises conducted under one management in the United States during the past year has been the government's job of disposing of surplus war materials. More than 100,000 different articles have been sold for cash through a nation-wide auction sale system. Sales have been in progress five days in every week all the year, and property that cost nearly $500,000,000 has been disposed of, the cash proceeds turned into the treasury aggregating approximately $65,000,000.

A summary obtained for the office of Assistant Secretary of War, William Wright, United States department, shows that, on Sept. 1, 1921, there was available for sale about $750,000,000 in surplus war stocks, ranging in character and size from locomotives to pins and needles. One year later there remained on hand of that amount property worth $243,000,000, and officials today expressed the hope that "Uncle Sam's shelves could be cleared in another six months."

The rate of return to the government varied tremendously. On one small lot of lumber it received 110 per cent of what it paid in war times; on a great mass of gas masks, sold for salvage the return was one-half of 1 per cent of what they cost.

Satisfied With Return. The average recovery during the year for all classifications is about 35 per cent, which, under the circumstances, is considered very creditable, the summary said.

The government has faced restrictions never imposed on commercial transactions of the kind in the business world. For one thing, it had on hand vast quantities of materials and other military stores of no value whatever except for war purposes. They could be sold only as scrap, to be broken up and reworked into articles of uncertain commerce. The return on such sales could have no relation to the cost value.

Another restriction was the necessity of disposing of these classes of commodities which are a part of peaceful industry in such fashion that private enterprise would not be crushed under the floods of materials to be sold out of government stocks. In some cases the government's stocks were sufficient to have met normal peace-time consumption of a given commodity for a period of years.

Still another restriction was the necessity of making the war supplies available to all classes of American citizens, rich or poor. The sales were conducted so that the smallest retailer might have his chance, and the public auction system of small lots was followed for this reason.

First Call by Department. By direction of Congress, the army surplus stocks of all classes were made available to other government departments and an aggregate amount was transferred of a cost value of $105,000,000.

Very few sales, it is stated, were made on other than a strict cash basis. As an illustration of the widespread nature of the selling operations, it is pointed out that, during the year in question, there were 129 large auction sales held in 21 different places in 27 states. Incidentally, this plan relieved the government of the necessity of transporting thousands of tons of commodities and adding the cost of transportation to the original cost.

BURGLAR KISSED CHILD

Vol. Ominous. Miss to Go Back to Sleep and Be Good Girl. Marguerite Rutzen, four years old, of Berghelands, N. J., met a burglar in her little bedroom and rather liked him. At least, so she told her parents when she came down stairs to find them excitedly discussing the ransacking of their home the night before.

"Mother," she said, "I wonder if it could be the man in my room. I woke up in the middle of the night and there was a nice, big man standing by my bed with a light in his hand. He smiled at me and said he was very sorry he woke me and kissed me, and told me to go to sleep like a good little girl. He said, 'Be obedient and be a good girl.'"

Shower to Death With Clock Pendulum. Telling the pendulum from a cuckoo clock, Thomas Cornwell, sixty-seven years old, beat to death his wife's uncle, Curtis Smith, seventy years old, at Rockford, Ill. Cornwell then took a drug which killed him.

How Many Six Pennies in the Gizzard? Six pennies were found in a chicken's gizzard when Mrs. H. A. Webb, of Martins Ferry, O., was preparing the fowl for a meal. The pennies were worn nearly smooth.

French Thrift. The situation of the French government in financial reconstruction and recovery of its paper currency gradually is interestingly being discussed according to the London Standard. A remarkable thing of the war and their disposal was the French war to invest their savings in bonds, especially when the price of government bonds was at a low level. In 1917 the people subscribed for 27,000,000,000 francs in government bonds. In 1921, the subscription was 47,000,000,000 francs and in 1922, 50,000,000,000 francs.

COTTON CULTURE IN CHINA

Long Neglected, Native Industry of Recent Years Made Extraordinary Development.

In the beginning the Chinese were too much devoted to the lovely Xanthippe of mulberry leaves and silkworms, to look with favor upon a cult of "miao-hun," the cotton flowers. Cotton did not thrive until it, too, acquired a patron, the Lady Huang, of the Yuen dynasty, who distributed seeds from Turkestan through the region about Nanking.

In this city was made the famous yellow "nankeen," from which were cut the trousers of many characters in English fiction. As nankeen was introduced in foreign lands, it was exported in smaller quantities, and the Chinese even began to import cotton cloth. In recent times, however, the native cotton industry has developed rapidly. Much of the coarse-fibered, kinky cotton from the farms is sent to Shanghai, Wankai or Tientsin, to mills equipped with English or American machinery. But the looms in most Chinese mills are constructed on the same principle as those in household weaving by simple folk, such as the old Chinil people. They are adept at unwinding the twisted thread from a bobbin into a skein, to be dyed blue and woven into narrow cloth.

AS GUARANTEED. Customer: You told me this coat was strictly up-to-date and now I've learned that you've had it in stock ever since 1893.
Shopkeeper: Yes'm, 1893. That was the date I had in mind.

HEROISM BY PROXY

"Who is the man making a meal of milk and crackers?"
"That's Scribson, the author. He writes red-blooded action. Seems queer, doesn't it?"
"Oh, I don't know. Life is full of paradoxes. The fellow who sells the loudest at a prize fight and makes the most sanguinary remarks is often some amiable little whippersnapper who couldn't lick a sparrow."

Whereas Only One Is. "Pa, what's an idealist?"
"An idealist, my son, is a very young man who believes all women are snakes."

THE LOGIC OF TWO STRIKE, A BRULE CHIEF

ABOUT thirty years ago a commission was sent from Washington to arrange for the cession of Sioux lands on the Rosebud reservation in South Dakota. One night a Brule chief named Two Strike agreed to sign the treaty but the next morning when it came time for him to make his mark on the treaty rolls, he held back. "I will not sign," he announced. One of the commissioners was greatly concerned at this refusal for Two Strike controlled more than 800 warriors and his signature was very important.

"Why not?" asked the commissioner. "You promised last night to sign this morning."

"I have thought it over and I will not sign," replied Two Strike, firmly. "I notice that every time I touch that thing—pointing to the pen—I less something." His logic was unmistakable and the name of Non-pa-pa or "The Man Who Knocks Off Two" did not appear on that treaty.

Two Strike was a "lost name" received in a sharp skirmish with the Utes in Colorado. Finally the Utes were defeated. Two of them tried to escape on one horse. Two Strike urged his war pony alongside the horse bearing the double burden, raised his war club and knocked both enemies off with one blow.

Although Non-pa-pa fought in some of the most important battles of the Sioux wars of 1860-67 and 1876-77, he did not become well-known among the whites as a leading chief until the Great Dance troubles of 1890-91 when he cast his lot with the hostile element of the Sioux. On the day of the Wounded Knee fight he led the attack on the troops at Pine Ridge Agency, an attack that was repulsed. The next day he attacked a wagon train near the St. Francis mission and the Seventh Cavalry was sent out to beat off Two Strike's warriors. The Brule chief drew the soldiers into a trap. Only the timely arrival of the Ninth prevented the "Mission Fight" from being a repetition of the disaster of Little Big Horn in 1876.

Bride, 55, Killed on Honeymoon. While they were visiting in Springfield, Ill., during their honeymoon, Mrs. T. J. Foster, sixty-six years old, was killed, and her husband, T. J. Foster, seventy-three years old, escaped injury when they were struck by a motor car while crossing a street.

Fear of Truant Officer Fatal to Boy. Fear of the truant officer, according to police, caused the death of Raymond Novicki, nine years old, of Chicago, whose body was found under his mother's bed. The child died under the bed and died when an agent rapped at the door, his mother told officers.

At the Theatres

THE SOISSON.

"GOOD MEN AND TRUE," with Harry Carey in the stellar role, provides splendid entertainment today and tomorrow at this theatre. Carey, besides being an actor of high skill and distinction, is an acrobat. He is such a good acrobat, in fact, that he could probably step on the stage at a moment's notice and give a thrilling exhibition on the trapeze or horizontal bars, not to mention a bit of ground and lofty tumbling. His skill at acrobatics has enabled him to take many risks on the screen that other actors would never think of attempting. His greatest risk, for instance, is shown in his latest and greatest production, "Good Men and True," adapted from the novel by Eugene Manlove Rhodes and directed by Val Paul. In this production Carey was compelled by the dictates of the scenario to tie along a narrow mountain path on his horse.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"TAKING CHANCES," showing today and tomorrow at this theatre, presents Richard Talmadge in the leading role. Romance, action, human interest, suspense, comedy, thrills, stunts, all vie with each other to make "Taking Chances," the big success that it is. With never a let-up in its headlong pace, "Taking Chances" will hold your interest and thrill you for every foot of its five reels. Especial care was used in selecting a well-balanced cast to support Dick and they are all adapted to the parts they portray. Dick uses no doubles, employs no trick photography, but actually performs each hair-raising stunt you will see in "Taking Chances." He literally leaps, dives, jumps and fights his way to an exciting climax and a happy ending in this thrilling feature.

THE ORPHEUM

"THE GREEN TEMPTATION," starring Betty Compson, the favorite

Paramount star, is the feature picture today and tomorrow at this theatre. Miss Compson scores heavily in "The Green Temptation." Miss Compson proves herself a star of many well-developed talents. She portrays a versatile role of a woman whose life undergoes two big, vital transitions. She has three names in the picture and in reality portrays three different characters. First, she is the typical French Apache who loves the "game" and is one of the most notorious female crooks in Paris; then she is the theatrical dancer, the idol of the French capital, and during and after the war, the broad-visioned woman, whose complete regeneration has been brought about by the tragedies and horrors of the conflict. Theodore Kosloff, noted Russian dancer and screen actor, plays the heavy role, the Apache—Gaspard. Mahlon Hammon is leading man and others of note, such as Edward Burns, Neely Edwards, Mary Thurman and Betty Brice, make up an unusually clever cast.

Thomas Meighan will be seen soon in "The Bachelor Daddy."

Cokers Close Gridiron Season With Victory; Crafton Hi Is Victim

Final Score Is 27-6; Rusnack
Makes Thrilling Touchdown.

SEASON IS A SUCCESS

A pretty forward pass, a long run by "Summer" Neld, and a gain of 30 yards featured the last play in the closing game of the Connellsville High School football schedule yesterday afternoon. Even while the brilliant yell of the Coker rooters were still echoing the final whistle blew and Neld, together with Captain Whipkey and several others walked from the field clad in their Orange and Black jerseys for the last time.

There is always something about the final game which causes the senior members of the team to quietly resolve to do something worthy while remembering the school seems to mean more than ever as the realization comes that no further opportunity to defend its honor on the gridiron will be forthcoming. Yesterday's clash saw the grad members of the eleven fighting with a new spirit and the big Crafton eleven went down to a lasty defeat by the score of 27-6.

The victory threatened to score on several occasions but the Coker resistance became impregnable and despite the desperate rushes of the Blue and Gold backs, little or no impression was made on the solid front presented by Connellsville.

Connellsville again showed its superiority in the aerial line, a finely executed pass from McCormick to Neld on a fourth down in the third quarter advancing the ball 25 yards and making a touchdown possible.

"Mickey" is another member of the senior group who finished yesterday. He seldom looked better. Bucking the line with terrific force he plunged through time and again for gains. His forwards were without criticism. Likewise Captain Whipkey, who finally was taken out because of an injury.

"Buck" Lowney at tackle showed his stuff and with the junior members of the eleven profiting by the example of their fellows the locals showed a world of stuff.

"Bob" Rusnack, who has only lately been finding his real self, showed his speed when he received the ball on a punt and ran 80 yards for a touchdown. He was given some splendid interference, McCormick taking out the final tackler in a pretty lunge.

The Cokers started things off with a rush, scoring two touchdowns in the initial quarter, McCormick and Rusnack crossing the goal line. This gave the team a world of confidence and from then on the outfit could not be stopped. The locals outgained their rivals although Crafton showed some punch.

The day was an ideal one for the game and a big crowd was present.

TORNADOES ADD ONE MORE VICTORY; MILL TOWN TEAM DEFEATED

The Connellsville Tornado football team defeated the Scottdale Veterans of Foreign Wars eleven at the Mill Town yesterday, 14-0. The Cokers scored two touchdowns, Jones making both.

The clash was before one of the largest crowds of the season. It was played at Loucks Park, Burkhardt, a smashing line buckler, who was injured earlier in the season, was back in the line-up yesterday, substituting for White.

The line-up:

GAME AT HOME IS SCHEDULED BY TORNADOES

The Pleasant Valley Smilers are likely to be seen in action here tomorrow afternoon. Although Coach Jones had been considering cancelling with the team until a later date because of injuries to some of his men at Scottdale yesterday, it was said the contest would likely be played.

The Tornadoes are anxious of showing at their best against the Smilers, wanting a more decisive defeat than that meted out by Brownsville. Even though the Smilers would be held off for a week, another game will be played at the ball park.
